

Head of Group Marketing & Business Development – Competitive Salary & benefits

At Jubilee we don't see things in black and white. Life's never quite that simple. For us insurance is an art as much as a science and we like to think the difference shows. Finding the perfect solution to any given risk is what makes us tick here at Jubilee. It's often complex, often challenging – but never dull!

About the role

Already known for our innovation in the Global Property, Commercial Motor, Specialty Personal Lines and Life markets we are committed to being recognised as a diversified speciality Lloyd's insurer and to growing the scope of our underwriting, distribution and administration businesses. This new position will lead the business development and marketing effort across the Jubilee Group and will be instrumental in delivering the next stage in our growth and development.

This role will have responsibility for leading a team focused on

- Channel led business development
- Group marketing & PR
- Communications
- Key account management

About you

- Ambitious and professional, you will be clearly recognised as a leader, respected by your team, with a clear understanding of making teams work and with a focus on performance and results.
- With experience in B2B marketing and sales development you will help shape and deliver our communication and distribution strategies.
- You will have extensive broker and insurer relationships and experience of managing key relationships at the highest level.
- Confident and with a proven record in business development you will have the credibility to present at Executive and Board level and to large audiences.

Location is flexible but regular attendance in London will be required.
